

Disaster Avoidance In The Cloud

Ensuring Your Business Communication is Never Compromised

When disaster strikes, it's crucial your company can stay connected to its customers, partners and clients while keeping all data secure.

Protect Your Business and Keep Lines of Communication Open

It's important for your organization to be prepared before disaster strikes with a Business Continuity Plan. Upon setting up your cloud-based phones, we will layout a major incident scenario with you and you and together, we will pro-actively set up rules to re-route calls accordingly in case of an unfortunate event.

When disaster strikes, you can initiate the override from anywhere and phone calls to your business will be re-routed to your location of choice.

The Cloud Offers Ultimate Flexibility for Disaster Recovery

UniVoIP's cloud-based phone solution promotes survivability with its disaster recovery, using data centers and other key sites, which can be connected in multiple redundant ways to the cloud (and thus to other sites on the network).

Secondly, remote sites can quickly and easily reconnect to backup locations to protect business operations at anytime.

Disasters Happen
